

#2: "This Isn't What I Bargained For"

from Passionwood

(With variations from Beethoven's Bagatelle Op.119, No1)*

cue:

RICHARD: "I think you'd better go home and wait for Annie."

Music By James A. Goins

Lyrics by Barbara Dixon

Lightly ♩ = 124

Richard: This is not

6

what I bar-gained for the fren-zied moods the dust - y floor

12

I - thought she was the girl next door. —

18 $\bullet = 145$

18

mf

25

I ne - ver guessed she would - n't like

25

31

shop - ping for clothes and - pret - ty things. —

31

2

37

Got no thrills from get - ting Can - dy flo - wers

37

43

dia - mond rings. Would think

43

48

that en - ter - tain - ing was a bore

48

3

55

Be re - lieved when friends were done and out the door. —

55

61

61

ff f

67

I ne - ver guessed she would' - nt like

67

mp

4

73

go - ing on week - end get - a - ways —

73

79

Would - n't like laz - ing a round on those care - free

79

85

sum mer days.

85

ff

91

91

p f mp

Ped. *

97

She acts like there are voi - ces

97

104

call - ing her — Si - rens bec - kon - ing to go and do things

104

111

that she'd pre - fer. —

111

117

This is not what I bar-gained for I want-ed some - thing more.

117

p

124

$\text{♩} = 84$

Your wife must al - ways be there for you —

124

mp

7

129

share in all the things that you do, — be half of one

129

132

where there once were two go through life — and share the same whole - some -

132

135

view.

135

mf

8

140

We have on-ly so much time in our lives,— we must there-fore stay on track with our wives. Track with our wives.—

140

143

143

f p

147

♩ = 124

And not be con - sumed by ur - ges and 147

mf

152

drives to carve up stones while our lives

152

f

f

159

pass us by.

159

f

sfz

166

Damn!

166

f